DESCRIPTION:

Recalling one's own tradition does not mean foregoing innovation. Today Mastroberardino is one of the most advanced syntheses of technical competence in the field. Nevertheless, the application of this competence doesn't aim to change the fundamental nature and characteristics of the ancient wines, but to preserve their existence and value, and to harmonize them with the evolution of schemes and ideas which represent a distinctive mark of wine tasting.

TASTING NOTES:

"This medium-bodied, rustic red leads with earthy pine, ash and bitter almond notes to the sun-dried plum and wild berry fruit. Piediro Rosso and Sciascinoso." (N.W. September 30th, 2013)
