Numerous generations of the Tedeschi family have dedicated love and devotion to viticulture in the Valpolicella, giving them an enviable wealth of experience, tradition, and nobility, all of which are used to achieve the highest level of quality. According to old documents which have recently come to light, the first purchase of vineyards was drawn up in 1630. The descendents followed suit, bringing prestige, respect and esteem to the family, to the extent that they were called upon to carry out important political and religious duties.

TASTING NOTES:

The grappa is aged for 2 years in oak barriques. Stabilization: Before it is bottled it is chilled to 10° C, filtered and distilled water is added to bring the alcohol content down to the final value.
